FRONT-END DEVELOPER

PROFILE

I'm a motivated and dedicated developer who loves having a nice balance of problem solving, logical thinking and creativity in my work. After being introduced to the world of coding by close friends, I realised the potential it offered for me to be creative and build programs that would give me a rewarding sense of fulfilment. I have recently completed a three month Web Development Immersive course at General Assembly and am now looking for full-time employment as a front-end developer.
